*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Your nightly rate of £653.20 is 323% higher than the city median (£154.60) while the 90-day occupancy is only 29.3% (vs. cohort median 47.8%) – consider price adjustments or limited-time discounts to boost bookings.
- 2 The listing advertises 7 bedrooms but only accommodates 4 guests, which confuses travelers; clarify capacity or adjust the bedroom count to align with guest limits.
- 3 The description is currently missing and no amenities are listed; add a compelling 200-300 word description and highlight high-value amenities (outdoor space, parking, entertainment) to improve appeal.
