*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 The listing's nightly rate of £1379.0 is 792% higher than the cohort median of £154.60, indicating a significant pricing gap that may be affecting occupancy.
- 2 The occupancy rate of 14.1% is substantially lower than the cohort median of 47.8%, suggesting a large room for improvement in attracting more guests.
- 3 With only 29 reviews and a rating of 4.59, there is an opportunity to improve the listing's credibility and appeal by encouraging more guests to leave reviews and increasing the overall rating.
