*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Occupancy is only 38% booked for the next 90 days (56 open nights) despite a nightly rate 45% below the cohort median (£85 vs £154.60) — run targeted promotions and dynamic pricing to capture price-sensitive demand.
- 2 No amenities are listed, missing high-value categories like outdoor space, parking, and entertainment — add and highlight these to increase perceived value and attract more bookings.
- 3 The current title does not mention the 45% price advantage; rewrite the title to feature this differentiator and improve SEO, which can boost click-through rates.
