*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. Indicative market benchmark: median of 25 live listings observed in your market on the capture date (median rate £89) — an indicative snapshot, not a valuation. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Reduce the nightly rate from £146.07 (64% above the local median of £89) to a more competitive level; a 15-20% cut can attract price-sensitive guests and boost occupancy beyond the current 58.7%.
- 2 Replace the current lead image with a professional photo of the front garden and parking area to highlight free parking, a top-value amenity that is currently under-represented.
- 3 Add a tumble dryer (and consider AC) to the amenities list; these missing conveniences are frequently requested in the cohort and can increase perceived value and booking rates.
