*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Nightly rate is £70.20 above cohort median yet occupancy remains only 2.2% higher (50% vs 47.8%) despite 45%+ pricing premium
- 2 0 listed amenities compared to market leaders who highlight high-value categories like Outdoor/Parking/Entertainment
- 3 Not a Superhost despite 5.0-star rating (19 reviews) - consider leveraging guest feedback to address trust signals

The exterior of the cottage should be the cover photo to immediately showcase the property type and location appeal, which is critical for a high-price listing competing on unique differentiators over price.
