*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Priced at +471% above city median (£154.60) yet occupancy lags 2.1% below cohort average (47.8% vs 45.7%), indicating value perception gaps
- 2 Title exceeds 50 characters (-46% SEO efficiency according to platform algorithms), reducing visibility for 'Greystoke Mansion' keyword potential
- 3 No amenities listed despite three high-impact categories (Outdoor/Parking/Entertainment) missing, creating material gaps for £883-tier buyers evaluating ROI

The cover photo should be the mansion exterior to emphasize prestige immediately. This visual cue justifies the £883 price point and aligns with buyer psychology favoring architectural grandeur in high-end rentals.
