*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Your nightly rate of £130.8 is -15% below the cohort median of £154.60, potentially contributing to lower occupancy (52.2% vs 47.8%).
- 2 With a 4.97 rating and 72 reviews, you have a strong reputation, but consider highlighting your hosting credentials to attract more guests.
- 3 The property is missing key amenities such as parking and facilities, outdoor space, and entertainment options.

The exterior photo should be the cover photo to showcase the house's location and outdoor space, while the interior photos should highlight the comfortable living areas and well-equipped kitchen.
