*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Occupancy: 29 open nights in the next 90 days equal ~£1,450 realistic upside of potential revenue you're missing – boost visibility and pricing to fill them.
- 2 Title: The current 42-character title is generic; a more compelling, keyword-rich title can improve search clicks and set your listing apart.
- 3 Amenities: No amenities are listed, leaving high-value categories like parking, entertainment, and expanded outdoor space unaddressed, which competitors in the cohort highlight.
