*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Their nightly rate (£192.4) is +£37.80 above the median (£154.60) in the same market, but occupancy is below the 47.8% median, indicating a significant price-vs-occupancy gap.
- 2 Occupancy is 43.5% over the next 90 days, which is 5.7% below the 47.8% 90-day median occupancy for the same market.
- 3 The property has no listed amenities, which is a major gap considering the importance of amenities in guest decision-making.
