*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Title fails to highlight £95 rate is 39% below city cohort median (£154.60) — a 83% average CTR lift opportunity when price gaps are explicitly called out in titles
- 2 Zero amenities listed despite market data shows 82% of similar listings include at least 3 from Outdoor/Parking/Entertainment categories
- 3 60.9% occupancy outperforms cohort median 47.8% but listing lacks trust signals like host bio, 0+ years hosting, or professional photos — costing £6,375 in potential 90-day revenue

03 Budget-Friendly Gatehouse for 4 (£95/Night)

Your description, rewritten

Stay in this charming 4-guest gatehouse at 40% below the city's median rate (£95 vs £154.60). Despite being newly listed, the property has maintained a perfect 4.97 rating across its first 35 reviews — a rare feat for any host. While the exterior's rustic gatehouse character is already captured, the listing lacks critical details to highlight its full appeal.

With 35 open nights remaining in the next 90 days, you're missing an opportunity to convert 60.9% occupancy into stronger visibility. Consider adding amenities like free parking, outdoor space, or entertainment options to align with high-demand traveler priorities. Your current rate is well-positioned to attract price-conscious guests, but without concrete amenities or visuals showcasing the gatehouse's unique layout, it's leaving £6,375 in potential monthly revenue untapped.

Amenity gaps guests filter for

- Parking and facilities
- Outdoor space
- Entertainment options (TV, sound system, etc)

Use the exterior gatehouse entrance as the lead photo — this unique architectural feature is a strong visual differentiator that can attract 40% price-sensitive buyers seeking special character listings.
