realistic 90d upside*

*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Reduce the nightly rate from £310.4 (which is +101% vs the Solihull median of £154.60) to become more price-competitive and raise the 31.5% occupancy toward the market median of 47.8%.
- 2 Add and highlight high-value amenities—outdoor space, parking, and entertainment options—in the listing to meet guest expectations and improve perceived value.
- 3 Rewrite the title to include SEO-friendly keywords and differentiators (e.g., "Period Home", "Central Solihull", "Near NEC", "5★ Rating") while keeping it under 50 characters.

Your description, rewritten

Welcome to a beautifully restored period home in the heart of Solihull, just minutes from the NEC. This entire-home retreat comfortably accommodates up to four guests, offering a perfect blend of historic charm and modern convenience. The spacious living area showcases original architectural details, while the fully equipped kitchen lets you prepare meals with ease. Relax in the tastefully furnished bedrooms, each designed for a restful night's sleep, and enjoy the convenience of a private bathroom.

Rated a flawless 5.0 from 20 guest reviews, James' property consistently earns praise for its location, cleanliness, and authentic character. Priced at £310.40 per night, the home sits in a premium segment—over 100% above the local median nightly rate of £154.60—yet offers a unique, high-quality experience that distinguishes it from typical Solihull listings.

In the next 90 days the calendar shows a 31.5% booking rate, leaving 62 open nights ready for new guests. Whether you're attending a conference at the NEC, exploring Solihull's boutique shops, or simply enjoying a weekend getaway, this period home provides a memorable base. James is a new host eager to ensure a flawless stay, and while the listing currently highlights no specific amenities, the property's historic appeal and central location serve as its strongest selling points. Book now to experience Solihull's charm from a truly distinctive home.
