realistic 90d upside*

*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Listing's occupancy (25%) is 56% below market median (47.8%), while rate is only +9% over median (£154.60 vs £168.57) — price is not the main issue
- 2 No amenities listed at all despite high-value categories like parking/outdoor space being common proximity wins in this market
- 3 Title's 'Ideal for Relocators' niche limits discovery to 9% of market vs broad 201-listing reach when using core descriptors like 'Entire Home for 6 Guests'

Prioritize publishing an exterior photo of the home as cover image to establish trust—first impressions are critical for first-time hosts. Follow with a bright living room shot to showcase the primary social space.
