*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Rewrite the title to highlight the £77/night price – about 50% lower than the cohort median of £154.60 – to capture price-sensitive search traffic.
- 2 Add high-value amenities (outdoor space, parking, entertainment) that are missing, as these categories drive bookings in this market.
- 3 Upload at least 8 high-quality photos covering all major rooms and set the living room image as the lead photo to improve visual appeal.
