*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Title exceeds 50 characters and lacks SEO keywords; current 52.2% 90-day occupancy falls 4.4 percentage points above market median despite 54% price discount
- 2 Description lacks explicit mention of competitive pricing advantage (local median: £154.60/night) that could drive urgency
- 3 No explicit confirmation of core high-value amenities (parking, outdoor space) despite hosting in a rural market where these are table-stakes for bookings
