*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Price mismatch: nightly rate is £803, which is 419% above the city median of £154, yet occupancy is only 16.3% (vs 47.8% median) – lower the price to improve bookings.
- 2 Missing high-value amenities: no outdoor space, parking, or entertainment features listed, which are proven to boost appeal for premium travelers.
- 3 No visible photo inventory: with an unknown photo count, the listing likely lacks professional room-by-room images; add high-quality photos of each space and set the living room as the lead image.
