*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Priced 3137% above cohort median £154.60 yet only achieving 14.1% occupancy vs 47.8% market norm, demonstrating significant mismatch between rate and market demand
- 2 Description field is completely empty, missing the critical narrative element of listings that converts browsers to bookers
- 3 Zero amenities listed despite 0% occupancy vs 14.1% market benchmark, failing to address minimum expected features for £5k+ nightly rate

Prioritize the front façade in the cover photo to establish location credibility and property presence, followed by a shot of the main living area to showcase spatial quality.
