*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Add at least 8 new high-quality photos to reach the market median of 23 images (currently 15), improving visual appeal and click-through rates.
- 2 Replace the current title with a more compelling, keyword-rich version (e.g., one of the suggested variants) to boost SEO and attract search traffic; the existing title scores only 6/10.
- 3 Address the 46 open nights (≈£4,700 potential revenue) by highlighting missing high-value amenities such as parking or a portable air conditioner in the listing to broaden appeal and increase bookings.
