*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Nightly rate is £79.2 higher than cohort median but occupancy is 20.7% above median, suggesting price could be optimized to increase revenue (27 open nights remaining at £235/night = £6,345 potential revenue)
- 2 Title exceeds 50-character limit (57 characters) reducing visibility in search feeds
- 3 Zero listed amenities despite premium pricing strategy, missing opportunities to justify £235/night

03 Charm Cottage | Scenic Countryside & Log Fire

Your description, rewritten

Escape to this charming countryside cottage just minutes from local attractions. The entire home sleeps 4 guests in warmth and comfort, featuring a rustic log burner for cozy evenings. Overlooking rolling green vistas, this property offers a peaceful retreat ideal for couples or small families seeking countryside tranquility.

While the description highlights key assets like the log burner and views, strategic upgrades would strengthen appeal. Consider adding specific amenities that align with the property's value proposition to maximize bookings.

Amenity gaps guests filter for

- Parking
- Outdoor seating area
- Smart TV with streaming services

The living room with unobstructed countryside views should be the cover photo to showcase the property's signature asset and create instant visual appeal in search results.
