realistic 90d upside*

*Realistic upside assumes filling one third of your open nights at your current rate — a conservative scenario, not a promise; open nights may include dates you have deliberately blocked. How we scored: everything above comes from your live public listing — the 3-month availability calendar, photo set, title, description and review signals, captured on the date on the cover. Scores weight what guests see first when deciding to click: title and cover photo, then photos, then copy. No third-party estimates are used. Demand signal reflects how much of your next 90 days is already booked — steady bookings mean demand exists and presentation, not location, is the constraint. Where the diagnosis cites your review count, that's the listing's own public review total at capture (a new listing starts at zero even when the host profile has reviews).

What's holding you back

- 1 Your nightly rate of £1,421 is +1255% above the city median (£104.90) while your 90-day occupancy is only 35.9% versus the market average of 48.9% — consider a price adjustment or added value to boost bookings.
- 2 The current title does not leverage high-impact keywords; replace it with a 50-character, SEO-friendly version that features "hot tub", "peak forest" and "14 guests" to improve search visibility.
- 3 Reorder the photo set so the first image is the panoramic view, reduce the total to ~30 targeted shots, and ensure each key amenity (hot tub, views, entertainment) appears within the first five photos to increase conversion.
