WHY IT'S SITTING EMPTY

- The listing's nightly rate of £99.6 is -36% vs the cohort median of £154.60, making price a major differentiator, but the title fails to emphasize this key selling point effectively.
- The current description is completely missing, offering zero content for guests to learn about the property or experience it might offer.
- The occupancy rate of 64.1% is above the median 90-day occupancy of 47.8% in the market, but the listing lacks specific information about amenities, room coverage, and visual content quality to optimize conversions.

Cover photo strategy (from the full report):

The cover photo should be of the exterior of the building or a wide shot of the living area, whichever is available, as visuals of the location and overall space will create the strongest first impression for potential guests looking for central accommodations.
